"I have partnered with Gail Tate of AVEZ Select to provide over a dozen professional development events for my company's educational robotics products. I have personally observed Gail's talent in professional development on several occasions.

As you would expect from a highly experienced trainer, Gail is professional, prepared, and her events always receive high marks from attendees. That said, what is special about Gail is her ability to put people at ease, especially those who come in with trepidation about learning programming, circuitry, or robot building. Gail is patient and kind, and excels with those who might otherwise struggle due to lack of experience and confidence. I can't think of a better partner in the Atlanta area for my business."
